Former DCI Turner Appearance before the PFIAB - 14 July 1983

According to the PFIAB staff, Admiral Turner was asked to meet with the Board and comment, as a former DCI, about: STAT
- the strengths and weaknesses of the intelligence community.

- any other topic he wished to discuss.

Turner at first was reluctant to appear. He said:

- there was little advice he could give as an official from the Carter administration.
- the White House did not need the Board's advice, everyone on the Board and the President all think alike anyway.
- He was already in trouble with CIA and did not want to critique DCI Casey's leadership.
- that if he did appear he would call the DCI and tell him in advance what he has to say.
